

Lunch with the Author

Anne Evans

A Pioneer in Colorado's Cultural History: The Things That Last When Gold is Gone

by Barbara Sternberg

Proceeds benefit People House

www.peoplehouse.org

This is the first biography of Anne Evans (1871-1941), the daughter of Colorado's second Territorial Governor, John Evans. Anne was a core member of a small group who helped make Denver a cultural center for all the Rocky Mountain West. This rich volume was the winner of the Independent Publisher Book Awards (IPPY) for Best Regional Non-Fiction.

Sternberg will discuss Anne Evans' astonishing accomplishments, including: the Denver Art Museum, Denver Public Library, Central City Opera House and Summer Festival, etc., along with her unique talents in leadership, and the principles by which she lived her life.

You will thoroughly enjoy time with Barbara Sternberg, who over a long lifetime has had a number of different careers, in addition to raising five unique children and being an active participant in her husband's architectural practice. She taught sociology at the University of Denver and other institutions, is the author of several books and numerous magazine articles, and practiced for many years as a Jungian Psychotherapist. Barbara will gladly sign books sold at the Luncheon,

For further information, Sandra Dallas reviewed the book in the Denver Post, Sunday, March 20, 2011 in the A&E Section - Books, pg 8E.

Date/Time: Sat. Oct. 19; 11:30—2pm

Location: The Garden, 3435 Albion St., Denver, CO 80207 303-321-5231; www.thegarden-parkhill.com

Tickets are $30. Registration/Information: www.peoplehouse.org or Barb Warner; 303-745-1377; powerfultools.barb@gmail.com.